

Call for Scholarships Application for Ukrainian Researchers in Ukraine and Germany studying Urban Development and Reconstruction from August to December 2022

Programme

What is the framework

Ukrainian researchers in Ukraine and Germany are invited to apply for the scholarships offered within the framework of the DAAD Programme Ukraine digital – Ensuring academic success in times of crisis. In response to the devastating impact of the war from Russia against Ukraine on the infrastructure of the education and higher education system, this programme focuses on the rapid establishment and implementation of virtual courses.

Project

What is the focus

In 2017 Ukraine incorporated the goals of the EU Leipzig Charter into its own decentralised planning system with the White Paper "Urban Development". Whereas Russia's war of aggression against Ukraine not only targets independent and democratic Ukraine, but also the goals of the EU Leipzig Charter: the European city as a place of democracy, pluralism, rationalism, subsidiarity and common welfare, besides the public space as a place of exchange, free residence and protest. These topics are hence to be studied in depth within the new teaching formats in order to enable a sustainable reconstruction in freedom.

Accordingly, four German universities of TU Kaiserslautern, BTU Cottbus, TH Lübeck and TU Berlin has launched the project of Digital Learning Platform – ReConstructionModules and Integrated Urban Development with the funding support of DAAD whereby courses about reconstruction and urban development will be made available and Ukrainian students and academics in need will be supported with scholarships.
